Job Summary

Leads and manages the Nursing Education & Development department, ensuring comprehensive staff orientation, continuing education, competency assessment, and professional development programs are effectively designed, delivered, and evaluated. Supports CBAHI nursing competency standards (NR.5) and drives a culture of continuous learning across Nursing Affairs.

Essential Duties & Responsibilities

1. Leads and manages the Nursing Education & Development department, providing strategic direction for all nursing education, professional development, orientation, and competency programs across the hospital.
2. Develops, implements, and evaluates the annual nursing education strategic plan in alignment with Nursing Affairs goals, CBAHI accreditation standards (NR.5), and SCFHS continuing professional development requirements.
3. Oversees the nursing competency assessment program, ensuring that nursing skills and knowledge remain current and are assessed on an ongoing basis using multiple methods (written tests, return demonstrations, peer review, supervisor feedback) as required by CBAHI standards.
4. Directs and supervises Clinical Instructors and Health Educators within the department. Monitors their performance, conducts evaluations, and ensures consistency and quality of educational delivery across all units.
5. Designs and coordinates the hospital-wide nursing orientation program for all new nursing staff, ensuring comprehensive onboarding covering clinical competencies, hospital policies, safety protocols, and professional expectations.
6. Develops and manages continuing education programs including in-service training, skills lab sessions, simulation-based learning, and specialty certification preparation courses for nursing staff at all levels.
7. Collaborates with Head Nurses, Nursing Directors, and Charge Nurses to assess unit-specific learning needs and establish annual education plans tailored to each clinical area.
8. Incorporates evidence-based practice, current research findings, and international best practices into all educational offerings. Facilitates critical incident analysis and links learning to patient safety outcomes.
9. Manages relationships with nursing academic institutions for student clinical placements, internship programs, and collaborative educational initiatives. Supports the development of Saudi nursing students and graduates.
10. Drives the achievement of Saudization targets within nursing education by developing training pathways and mentorship programs that support Saudi nurse professional growth and career advancement.
11. Monitors and evaluates the effectiveness of education programs using outcome measures linked to clinical quality indicators, patient satisfaction, and staff competency benchmarks. Prepares reports for Nursing Affairs leadership.
12. Manages the nursing education budget, including allocation of resources for training materials, simulation equipment, external courses, and conference attendance.

13. Promotes knowledge sharing via mentorship, journal clubs, and research dissemination in line with evidence-based practice. Supports nursing staff participation in scholarly activities.
14. Follows all hospital-related policies and procedures. Participates in self and others' education, training, and development. Performs other related duties as assigned.
